

Building New Lives in Charlottesville

The International Rescue Committee (IRC)

As an organization serving in Charlottesville since 1998, we are proud of our contributions to the strength and cohesion of our local community. Through our supportive services, refugees, asylum seekers, and survivors of human trafficking are being supported to access crucial resources, experience community integration, and achieve their goals as new members of the community.

We remain committed to continuing services for existing newcomers within our community, supporting their ongoing journey toward self-sufficiency. Our efforts are focused on comprehensive programs that support both newcomers as well as the broader Charlottesville community.
